

Dear Friends,

On demand of our members and customers, ISOhelpline Team has decided to publish periodic newsletter to disseminate information on management systems and activities at ISOhelpline forums, blog and polls.

Also based on user demand, we are making our online E-book on quality management (ISO 9001: 2008) free to access to all for this month. Based on user/member response we may continue to provide access to E-Book free for some more time. Please check this wonderful guide today, click this link or copy-paste in your browser: <http://guide.isohelpline.com/content/quality-management>

I advise you to use blog and forum for all your business management issues relating to finance, insurance, quality, environmental, society etc. Our experts and ISOhelpline community is ready to respond to your needs, and its free.

Please feel free to write back to me at manoj@isohelpline.com, I am waiting for your feedback.

Thanks and Regards

JULY – 2009

Selected blogs on the site:

BLOGGING SOFTWARE SELECTION

Blogging allows share your views with the world. There many ways you can blog about, one of the most popular one is to use blogging sites. You can open an account with public blogging sites like blogger.com, squidoo.com, twitter.com etc. and start blogging right away. The benefit of these sites is that you do not need any thing else than an internet connection.

SOFTWARE PROTECTION SOLUTIONS

Software protection is need of the day. It is estimated that about 30% revenue is lost due to piracy but these figures fail to explain the fact that piracy also increases legal sales. Director of a software company told me they learn about some companies using their pirated software but they did not took any action.

THE GREAT INDIAN BUDGET AND THE MARKET

This year, and may be first time in last 18 years budget has not talked about divestment. Stock market always looks for some key terms in the budget (like Google search engine while indexing a site) and when it did not find its favourite term "divestment" or "dis-investment", it crashed.

EDUCATIONAL REFORMS

India is now discussing changes in educational system. It is proposed to make 10th standard exam optional so as to reduce burden on the students. But will it really solve the problem faced by Indian education system today?

And much more
